➤ Recognize the Total Value of Your Contracting Solution

GHX consulting can help you transform your contracting tools into a more robust solution you can use to negotiate contracts and renewals, validate pricing and keep up with key milestones and dates. Additionally, you may need help executing the more labor-intensive change-management tasks like data collection and upload, enterprise rollout to include training and communications, and/or pre- and post-implementation performance analytics. GHX acts as an extension to your team to fill gaps based on your needs.

GHX's supply chain experts draw from diverse backgrounds to help you drive adoption among disparate groups and demonstrate the expected results—measurable cost-savings and efficiency. Our proven best practices in contract processes can help you achieve these benefits:

Reduce supply chain costs

Drive formulary purchasing, uncover contract rebates, track key action dates, meet volume commitments and validate contract pricing against purchase orders.

Reduce contract cycle time through simplified processes

Standardize approval workflows, centralize contract and metadata storage and streamline business practices.

Improve vendor compliance with your policies and accreditation requirements

Gain visibility into vendor compliance and help prepare for compliance reviews with centralized contracting data and reports at your fingertips.

Our consultants are skilled in breaking through roadblocks to help you realize the true value of your contracting solution. By putting the right project management, people and processes in place, GHX positions you to drive the maximum results from your contract management technology.
